LIFETIME OF TRAVELING STARES HAIGHT IN FACE
Andrew Haight of Brooklyn arrived in Omaha yesterday on his way around the world by the novel method of earning money on his travels. Haight is 35 years old, but he says that he has walked only a fraction over five miles and has journeyed 30,000 miles through most of the eastern states. He is to visit the capital of every state in the union. He carries letters from the governors of every state he has visited so far. After he finishes the rounds of this country he plans to visit every foreign country in similar fashion, he says.

COMRADESHIP THE KEY TO HAPPINESS
Rev. T. J. Mackay Tells Traveling Men Secret of How to Really Enjoy Life While Here.
ST. PETER'S "SAWDUST TRAIL"
"Comradeship is one of the most important essentials to a happy and successful life and an essential you men have an opportunity to promote and enjoy to the utmost," said Rev. T. J. Mackay before local Post A. of the Travelers' Protective association, congregated at the Paxton hotel Saturday evening for the first of a series of monthly entertainments to be given throughout the winter.

COMRADESHIP THE KEY TO HAPPINESS
"Keep off the side lines of pleasure and stick to the main business of comradeship if you want to have real happiness. Make a business of getting together as brothers," went on Rev. Mr. Mackay. "The reason the church has lost its grip on the world is because it has gone into side lines, and till it gets back to the original path of promoting the brotherhood of man, revivals and conversions will be of little good, especially when based on emotional hysteria. Comradeship is the keynote."

COMRADESHIP THE KEY TO HAPPINESS
"Why are most of the churches of Omaha closed and their congregations flocking to Sunday's tabernacle? Comradeship is the answer. 'Bible Sunday' is a business man, as you no doubt are well aware. He sees this point, and aided by the best organization since the establishment of Barnum & Bailey, is giving the people something that they evidently can't find in their own churches. Clergymen have lost this business principle, evidently. For after all, when you get down to brass tacks, preaching is a business. Conditions in this city at present are something appalling. With the exception of the Catholic, Episcopal and Lutheran churches, practically all the rest have closed their doors and their congregations have walked out, as much as to say, 'Good-bye, God; we can't find you here, so we're going down to the tabernacle.' That is a fine condition of affairs, and is traceable to a lack of comradeship."

COMRADESHIP THE KEY TO HAPPINESS
"Is it not gymnastics that the people want, but just that feeling of comradeship. As an example, St. Peter preached to the Jews on the Day of Pentecost. He didn't do any preaching, nor did he preach a long sermon. He talked quietly and as man to man. And he had 3,000 conversions. Some sawdust trail, eh? "There are times when I feel like stepping forward in the pulpit and saying, 'You can all go to—somehow, I'm through. But this would not, be right. No more preaching, no more sermons, we should fight to help our brother. Strive for comradeship, you men. That's the way to help each other and yourself, and make of your organization a brotherhood to the letter.'"

COMRADESHIP THE KEY TO HAPPINESS
At the conclusion of his talk Rev. Mr. Mackay received great applause. For the first time the audience even outvoted the "Bible" Sunday enthusiasts. Otto Wolford, president of local Post A, introduced Rev. Mr. Mackay to the traveling men, and following his discourse by P. S. S. of Thomas Kilpatrick & Co. gave an interesting talk on "Scientific Salesmanship." The Woodmen of the World quartet entertained with several selections, while a number of songs, including "America," were joined in by the entire crowd. A bass solo by L. Rogers and a tenor number by John McCrary were greatly enjoyed. Following the program a spread interested the majority of the crowd. The affair was arranged by Harry Patrick, who addressed a few remarks to the crowd; L. L. Carr and Charles Allen.

WOULD UNDO THE CITY COMMISSION
South Side and Dundee Residents Seek Legal Advice on Manner to Perform Deed.
FIND WAY, BUT MUST WAIT YEAR
Are the people of Omaha satisfied with the commission plan of city government or do they want a change? The commission plan was adopted for Omaha about four years ago and has been operative since May 1912, so the question raised is whether now, after consolidation into Greater Omaha the majority are of the same opinion as when they voted "yes" on the proposition.

WOULD UNDO THE CITY COMMISSION
It has come to light that interested parties, more particularly in South Omaha and Dundee, who have no representation on the present commission because chosen before the achievement of annexation, have been seeking legal advice as to undoing the commission plan and going back to the old system of ward councilmen which would insure a member from the annexed territory.

WOULD UNDO THE CITY COMMISSION
Looking up the commission plan law they have found a provision for a city to get out of the commission plan class in the same manner that it got into it. The same manner that it got into it. The commission plan applies to any city which may have operated for more than four years under the act and prescribes the exact method of procedure. A petition must be presented signed by qualified electors of the city equal to 25 per cent of the highest vote cast for any of the councilmen at the last election, which in the case of Omaha, would take about 3,000 names. The petition must be checked up and verified by the city clerk and the proposition submitted at a special election in the form of this question: "Shall the city of Omaha abandon its organization under the commission plan law and become a city under the general law of the state governing cities of the metropolitan class?"

WOULD UNDO THE CITY COMMISSION
A majority is sufficient to carry the proposition and it carried then at the next succeeding general city election the voters would choose again twelve councilmen from as many different wards instead of seven councilmen selected at large. Must Wait Until May. Those back of the scheme admit that they have met with this obstacle, that the abandonment provided for under the commission form law cannot be invoked before May of next year when the four years under the law will have been completed and furthermore that if they should gain their point at a special election held at that time they could not reap the benefit of it in the form of a councilman to represent either South Omaha or Dundee before two years more should elapse because the present incumbents would continue to serve out their terms undisturbed.

WOULD UNDO THE CITY COMMISSION
"It would be no trouble at all to get the required petition of 3,000 names," declared a lawyer who has been advised of the move. "More than that number could be secured in South Omaha alone. A doubt has been raised, however, whether it is worth while and whether more effective action cannot be had in some other way."

BOB DUNCAN IS BACK IN OMAHA ON A FURLOUGH
After being given up by his friends a year ago as a seaman, Robert D. Duncan, long connected with the water works, is back again in Omaha on a furlough from the soldiers' home at Leavenworth. Mr. Duncan was first sent to the Battle Mountain sanitarium, but the altitude failed to relieve him, while after his transfer to Leavenworth, he made steady progress to recovery.

HE SAID:
"WHAT'LL WE DO TONIGHT?"
AND SHE SAID:
"OH, I DUNNO—WHAT'S DOING?"
THEN HE SAID:
"LET'S GO TO TH' MOVIES!"
AND SHE REPLIED:
"ALL RIGHT—WHICH ONE?"
"OH, I DON'T CARE; WHERE D'YA WANT T' GO?"
"WELL, I'LL LOOK IN THE BEE AN' SEE."

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR E. N. GROH
Body of Omaha Man Who Was Missionary to Honduras and Guatemala Is Laid at Rest.
CHOSE HIS WORK WHEN A LAD
Funeral services were held for E. N. Groh Saturday at St. Mark's Lutheran church. Rev. C. N. Swihart officiated, assisted by Rev. Dr. O. D. Baitzler, Rev. Dr. D. E. Jenkins, Rev. Luther Kuhns and others. They spoke of the self-sacrifice of the missionary.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR E. N. GROH
Mr. Groh was born a missionary, having chosen this work when but a lad. While a youth at Roanoke college, Roanoke, Va., he did his first missionary work among the colored people in the jail. Later he went to college in San Diego, Cal. and in Canada, always being active in his chosen work.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR E. N. GROH
While attending the Lutheran theological seminary in Philadelphia an opportunity came to him to go to the missionary school of New York. This was presented over by Mrs. Whittemore, formerly a society woman of the metropolis, a woman of such strong faith that she had built up the entire institution without taking 1 cent of contributions. All had come in response to her firm faith. Mr. Groh was for a time tutor to her children. Then he and another man traveled through Pennsylvania, holding tent meetings, and twenty years ago he decided to go as missionary to the most neglected fields directly south of this country.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR E. N. GROH
Though he was scholastically distinguished and could have had high position in this country, with ease and comfort of civilization, he unhesitatingly gave himself to this work.
Lives Primitive Life.
Though he could have gone to the foreign field with an assured salary from some missionary board, he insisted on going literally "without purse and without scrip." And so he continued throughout the score of years.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR E. N. GROH
His work was largely among the Indians in the remote mountain villages of Honduras and Guatemala, the primitive people, who had been almost entirely forgotten in missionary work. He returned to the United States only twice in the twenty years of his foreign work. He went through several stages of tropical fever and malaria before his strong constitution finally succumbed. Among those present at the funeral from out of the city were John Shank of Chicago, a cousin, Abraham Eberly of Octavia, Neb., a cousin, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Mory of Philadelphia, lifelong friends of Mr. Groh, and always deeply interested in his work.

OLD AGE A CRIME!
Some people are young at 60—red cheeks, ruddy and vigorous. Others are old at 40—jointed beginning to stiffen up a bit, step beginning to lag and loss of hair, and occasional tendency of pain in the back; feet tired without cause and possibly a twinge of rheumatic pain. In most cases these are the danger signals to warn you that the kidneys are not promptly doing their work of throwing off the poisons that are always forming in the body. To neglect the natural warnings is a crime against yourself. You may have these symptoms. MEDICAL HARLEM OIL Capsules. For more than 25 years this has been the recognized remedy for kidney and bladder ailments.
